

Opening Statment - Enver Tohti

Ladies and gentlemen:

Thank you very much for this opportunity to stand before you to give you this testimony. My name is Enver Tohti Bughda, a former surgeon who has extracted organs from an executed prisoner.

“how the most respected people in a society turn into murderer?” this is the most asked question in my campaign.

To understand how, you have to think like a Chinese. Born to the Chinese society, born straight into the washing machine had you brain washed from the very beginning, you became a fully programmed member of the society, ready to fulfil the task ahead without asking why. This mentality is the standard product of the CCP’s China.

To understand how such atrocity can take place in China, you do not need to look further, just put yourself in the society created by George Orwell in his novel “1984”.

Rumour of organ thieves can be traced back to 1990, I was then a young, energetic physician, an oncologist surgeon with brightest future in the society, working in the Central railway hospital of Urumchi. During my time in our outpatient department that I have seen at least three children had scar on their bodies. Indicates their organ had been stolen.

And 1995, it comes to my turn to do it. It was a Wednesday, my two chief surgeons called me into their office and told me to assemble a team with capability of the largest possible surgery and report to them next day morning. 0930 next day, we met at the hospital gate and headed towards the western mountain execution ground, where I was told to wait for them until hearing the gun shots, after the gun shots were heard we rushed in, an armed police officer directed us to the far-right corner where I can see a civilian clothed man lying on the ground with a bullet wound to his right chest.

My chief surgeons ordered and guided me extracted the liver and two kidneys. The man was alive, he tried to resist my scalpel cut but too weak to avoid my action. There was bleeding. He was still alive. I did not feel guilty, in fact, I did not feel anything but a fully programmed robot doing its task. I thought I was carrying my duty to eliminate the enemy of the state.

After operation, those chief surgeons took organs with a strange box, told me to take my team back to our hospital and remember there was nothing happened. I followed the order. We never talked about it.

It is not acceptable that normal buy-one-get-one-free shopping pattern can be seen in organ transplantation. Predate for your heart transplantation means that they make someone dead for you. Giving away organs to promote business means they have unlimited supply of organs, and it is only can be achieved if those organs are carried in the living bodies waiting to be taken on demand.

A news broke out last June that the CCP is giving Uyghur people in Xinjiang free national health check-up. With no further explanation, we suspect that the CCP is building their national database for organ trade. It is also widely reported that the CCP is carrying DNA test in the region in the aim of self-claim to be that to increase the quality of life for the Uyghurs, such claim has always been a lie.
