Standing Orders

The Select Committee on Budgetary Oversight was established on 21 July 2016 following the adoption of Dáil Standing Order 186A. Standing Order 100(4) of Dáil Éireann require that “as soon as may be following its appointment and thereafter at annual intervals, each Select Committee shall prepare a work programme and shall lay such programme before Dáil Éireann and Seanad Éireann”.

Role of the Committee on Budgetary Oversight (CBO)

The Budget is key to decisions on how national resources are allocated. The Committee on Budgetary Oversight (CBO) was established on the 21st of July 2016 as a Standing Committee designed to enhance the level of engagement by the Oireachtas in the Budget process.

The Committee can achieve this by:

- Engaging with a range of stakeholders and carrying out “ex-ante” (before the event) scrutiny of Revenue and Expenditure options before the Budget;
- Carrying out “ex-post” (after the event) scrutiny to evaluate Budget measures or to assess how budgeted spend or revenue projections compare with out-turns;
- Bringing a strategic focus to monitor macro-economic developments and fiscal risks;
- Engaging with the Fiscal Advisory Council (FAC) to receive its regular assessments of compliance with fiscal rules;
- Holding budget scrutiny meetings with the Minister for Finance and Public Expenditure and Reform at key budget milestones;

Making recommendations to Dáil Éireann on measures to enhance and strengthen the budget scrutiny framework.

Parliamentary Budget Office (PBO) and the Irish Fiscal Advisory Council (IFAC)

The Committee’s work programme is informed by evidence-based research, including analysis provided by the Committee Secretariat, and by the independent Parliamentary Budget Office \(PBO\).

As part of the Dáil reform process, Ireland's Parliamentary Budget Office (PBO) was established on 15th August 2017. The Committee engages with the PBO and with on a regular basis. As the PBO develops specialist economic expertise, the Committee will endeavour to makes use of its advice and expertise to develop the Oireachtas budget framework, in line with international best practice.

The Fiscal Advisory Council was established as an independent fiscal institution in July 2011 and put on a statutory footing in December 2012 by the Fiscal Responsibility Act.

The Committee also engages with the Fiscal Advisory Council (FAC) regularly to consider its Fiscal Assessment Reports.

Planned Areas for Consideration

This section outlines the areas the Committee intends to consider over the next budgetary cycle. However, it may not be possible to examine each of the topics and other areas may emerge that require consideration.

Commission on Taxation and Welfare Report

The Commission and Taxation and Welfare Report was published on 14 September 2022. The report makes numerous recommendations on the future of the taxation and welfare system.

The Committee notes the importance of this report and will conduct an in-depth examination of the report and its recommendations.

The full report and its executive summary can be found here.

Stability Programme Update

The publication of the SPU is a key point in the European Semester and represents the state's medium-term budgetary Plan. In 2021 and 2022, the Committee held a number of meetings with stakeholders prior to publication of the SPU and published a pre-SPU report outlining a number of areas that needed to be addressed. This was a departure from previous years where Committee only engaged on the SPU after publication. The Committee plans to publish a pre-SPU report in 2023.

Stand-still cost pressures

The Committee recognises that the cost of 'standing still' i.e. delivering the same quantum of public services, taking into account pressures due to demographic change and inflation. Failure to account for these costs correctly can have a detrimental impact on the delivery of public services. The Committee also notes that its predecessor of the 32nd Dáil had planned on undertaking this work before the dissolution of the Dáil. The Committee believes that this work should be undertaken in the near future to ensure that the cost in meeting these pressures is being sufficiently allowed for.

Oversight Frameworks

Equality, Green and Wellbeing Budgeting

In October 2020, the Committee met with the OECD to discuss Performance Budgeting, including Equality and Wellbeing budgeting. The Committee recognises the important role that these frameworks can have with regard to outcomes, and the potential for them to provide the Oireachtas with greater oversight of departmental performance. Considering this, the Committee believes that it is important that it examines the overall frameworks, their adequacy and implementation.

Public Service Performance Report

As with the above, the introduction of, and improvement to, the Public Service Performance Report (PSPR) has led to better oversight of what is being delivered by public resources. However, the Committee believes that some additional improvements could result in significant benefits for Oireachtas committees. While the Committee believes scrutiny of individual votes in PSPR is best served if undertaken by Sectoral Committees, it also believes that BOC has an important role to play in monitoring the overall Report, including the type of information contained in the report and how it can be improved. The Committee also notes that the Committee of the 32nd Dáil made a number of recommendations regarding the PSPR.

Public Spending Code

The Committee recognises the important role that the Public Spending Code plays ensuring that, in particular, capital projects are delivered cost effectively. It is intended to consider the overall Code and to ensure that best value is being achieved for public expenditure.

Spending Review

The Committee notes the important role that the Spending Review cycle plays in evaluating expenditure and promoting the efficient use of public resources. The Committee also notes the recent external review of the Spending Review¹ which observed that there should be greater parliamentary awareness of the spending review process through more interaction with the Houses of the Oireachtas. The Committee believes that BOC should be the conduit between the Spending Review and the wider Oireachtas, and should have a role in monitoring the overall cycle, the topics it is addressing and how its findings are being incorporated. However, it also believes that there is an important role to be played by individual sectoral committees.

Revenue Analysis

Tax expenditures

The Committee on Budgetary Oversight during the 32nd Dáil undertook significant work in scrutinising tax expenditures which culminated in the publication of a report. Several recommendations were made in this report and it is timely to follow up on these now and to consider how they have been implemented. It is also believed that ongoing parliamentary monitoring of tax expenditures is needed given their fiscal cost.

The Committee will, in particular, examine the Section 481 Film Credit.

Tax gap

The overall tax gap for the economy; the difference between the level of taxation that is proposed to be collected and the amount that is actually collected is of interest to the Committee. Tax gaps emerge for a number of reasons, such as aggressive tax planning, tax arbitrage, tax fraud, and tax evasion, but the revenue loss can also be caused by negligent omissions and insolvencies. The Committee believes that it is important that the size of the tax gap can be estimated and that the reasons for this are understood.

Wealth Taxes/New Revenue Raising Measures

There have been many calls to generate additional revenue. The Committee will examine the potential for new revenue raising measures, such as wealth taxes/taxes on assets, as an alternative or increased source of revenue

Carbon Tax

With increases in carbon tax legislated for, it is important to ensure a just transition and that the revenue raised is delivering for people. The Committee plans to examine how the revenue raised compares to projections, its impact on households, businesses and the State and how the funds raised are being spent.

Corporation Tax

The changes to the international corporation tax framework could have a significant impact on Ireland's corporation tax revenues. The Committee plans to examine the changes to understand the potential impacts and what steps can be taken to minimise them.

EU Economic Governance Framework

The lifting of the suspension of the EU fiscal rules following the pandemic could impact on budgetary decisions in the coming years. The Committee plans to make a submission to the European Commission's consultation process and monitor any changes in EU Economic Governance Framework and its impact on the Irish budgetary process.

Data and Reporting

Access to clear data in a timely manner is vital for both budgetary decisions and oversight. The information must also be presented in a clear and accessible manner. The Committee will examine the reporting of financial information by Government and State bodies.

The format of the revised estimates has also been an issue of concern for Committees. The Committee will examine the estimates format with a view to making recommendations on how it could evolve.

Welfare Spending over the Medium Term

How to ensure the social protection and taxation system keeps up with changes to the cost of living, income equality etc is an important part of budgetary management. This includes areas related to social welfare expenditure over the medium term, including how to index supports, poverty measures, and areas such as pensions and the cost of living with disabilities.

The Committee will examine indexation of the social protection and taxation system and if it would provide greater budgetary scrutiny, ensure reduction in poverty levels and maintain pace with the cost of living.

Community and Voluntary Sector

Organisations in the Community and Voluntary sector are not party to the Public Services agreement.

The Committee will examine the operation, size and costs of the sector with a view to assessing the budgetary implications of taking some/all of these organisations fully within the public sector.

Sustainable Development Goals

The Committee will examine how the Sustainable Development Goals and can be included in the budgetary process.

Interparliamentary Activities

The Committee will engage and consider interparliamentary activities with the EU and other national parliaments that reside under the Committee's remit.

In particular, the Committee will engage with the European Parliamentary Week and other activities regarding budgetary scrutiny.

Committee Reports

The Committee will publish a number of reports throughout the budgetary cycle on the topics covered. The Committee also plans to publish a pre-Budget report and a post-Budget report.

Agreement of Work Programme

The Committee agreed to review its work programme on a regular basis. Inclusion in this Work Programme does not necessarily mean that a topic will be considered by the Committee within the timeline set out. Similarly, non-inclusion of a topic does not preclude the Committee from considering such areas.

The Work Programme for November 2022 – October 2023 of the Select Committee on Budgetary Oversight was agreed by the Committee at its meeting on 25 January 2023. In accordance with Standing Orders of Dáil Éireann, it was agreed that the Work Programme be laid before Houses of Oireachtas and published on the Oireachtas website.
