- 82. “That Dáil Éireann:

notes with grave concern:

- the fact that five gangland gun murders have taken place in the first three weeks of 2010;
- the fact that criminal gangs are gaining a greater foothold in communities throughout the State;

- the drug abuse afflicting communities throughout the State;
- the involvement of criminal gangs in people trafficking and prostitution;
- the fact that a large number of vacancies have emerged in the senior ranks of An Garda Síochána but replacements are not being appointed;
- the fact that community Gardaí make up only 6% of the Force;
- the pathetically low conviction rate for gangland gun murders;
- the absence of any convictions to date under anti-gangland legislation introduced in 2009;
- that in situations where gangsters are incarcerated they continue to direct their operations from within our prisons through use of mobile phones;
- the wholly inadequate measures in place at ports, airports and along the coastline to prevent massive quantities of illegal drugs from flowing into the jurisdiction; and
- the consequent fear and anxiety of communities where gangland violence is commonplace and the havoc that drugs are wreaking on our communities;

calls on the Minister for Justice, Equality and Law Reform to:

- immediately fill senior Garda vacancies;
- introduce a mandatory minimum life sentence of 25 years for gangland gun murders;
- introduce measures in prisons such as full body scanners for visitors to prevent gangsters from operating from within prisons;
- increase community policing by implementing Fine Gael's policies on quotas and incentives; and calls on the Minister for Finance to significantly enhance the Customs presence at ports and airports, and in particular at small and private airports.” — *Charles Flanagan, Enda Kenny, Richard Bruton, Bernard Allen, James Bannon, Séan Barrett, Pat Breen, Ulick Burke, Catherine Byrne, Joe Carey, Deirdre Clune, Paul Connaughton, Noel J. - notes the severe social and economic hardship caused by serious flooding;

- recognises that increased rainfall in Ireland will be a consequence of global warming and that Government will have to adapt to changing climate patterns;
- notes with concern that Government has no co-ordinated and integrated flooding alert system or response plan in the event of serious flooding; and
- recognises that most other developed at risk countries have advanced flood warning systems that act to minimise damage and disruption caused by flooding;

calls on the Government to develop a new national flood alert system to be controlled by the Environmental Protection Agency and Met Éireann that is based on a system of flood alert codes that results in co-ordinated preventative action from the local authorities, civil defence, the Office of Public Works, and the emergency services; and calls on the Minister for the Environment, Heritage and Local Government to:

- immediately support local authorities in providing safe drinking water to communities with potentially contaminated water supplies caused by flooding;
- immediately request reports from all local authorities to outline the damage caused and reasons for recent flooding;
- review the national flood relief capital programme in order to prioritise areas subject to frequent flooding; and
