- that the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change Working Group III contribution to the Sixth Assessment Report (IPCC AR6 WG III) identified investment protection under the Energy Charter Treaty (ECT) through Investor-State Dispute Settlement (ISDS) mechanisms, which are ‘designed to protect the interests of investors in energy projects from national policies that could lead their assets to be stranded,’ as something which aids ‘fossil fuel companies to block national legislation aimed at phasing out the use of their assets’;

- that the ECT has been used at least 150 times by investors, claiming in total €110bn in compensation for changes in national energy laws that would reduce their profits; and calls on the Government:

- to withdraw from the Energy Charter Treaty.”

3. “That Seanad Éireann:

notes that:

- in the early years of Irish statehood two institutions, ACC and ICC, were set up in recognition of the importance of financial services to facilitate the growth of our agricultural and industrial sectors;
- ACC and ICC were allowed to become part of larger private commercial banks and now have ceased to exist as all foreign owned retail banks have left or are leaving the Irish market;
- Ulster Bank has one million current accounts including 70,000 commercial accounts and 301,000 deposit accounts, KBC has over 300,000 current accounts. All these accounts will have to be closed within the next 12 months, with most requiring new accounts to be opened elsewhere;
- Irish mortgage rates are the second highest in the Eurozone after Greece and double the currency bloc’s average rate;
- banks regularly blame the increased capital charge for the higher mortgage rate, but a Goodbody Stockbrokers’ analysis in July 2021 found the real difference is in the banks’ operating costs compared to their EU counterparts;
- the report on Local Public Banking in Ireland and the Indecon Report both concluded there was no economic case for a public bank in Ireland but were based on a much different banking landscape than currently exists;

recognises that:

- the choices of individuals and companies are now severely limited regarding the provision of basic financial services especially with local access;
- both personal and business consumers are paying over the odds on their mortgages and loans with only the prospect of increased interest rates going forward;
- reliance of our remaining financial institutions on online solutions actively discriminates against certain cohorts of the population;
- credit unions have limited scope to provide financial services to business customers e.g. personal current accounts only, and lack the expertise to fully serve this important sector; credit unions are not banks and do not want to be banks;

- the lack of availability of, and appetite for, credit by our SMEs, is constraining the growth of our economy as these are the backbone of the economy and provide the vast majority of employment;

acknowledges that:

- the Banking Review has commenced and is due to report by end of November 2022;
- separately, the review of the credit union movement is due to be completed imminently, members of the Government openly talk of the credit unions filling the gap left by Ulster Bank and KBC thus pre-empting the conclusions of this review along with the Banking Review;

and calls on the Government to:

- take immediate action, using the expertise available to it, to design and implement a comprehensive public bank system that makes full use of the remaining local financial services infrastructure to deliver a banking service that serves our local communities and businesses.”

4. “That Seanad Éireann:

notes with concern that:

- in 2021:
  - 11.6% of the population of Ireland, or 581,334 people, were living in poverty, of which 163,936 were children;
  - 4% of the population of Ireland, or 200,460 people, were living in consistent poverty;
  - approximately 16% of those living in poverty, or 93,013 people, were in employment;
  - approximately 19% of the population of Ireland, or 952,185 people, were at risk of poverty when housing costs were factored in, and that renters were the worst affected, with 41.6% at risk of poverty after rent was paid;
  - approximately 45% of one parent families, the majority of which are headed by women, were experiencing enforced deprivation, meaning that they could not afford goods and services considered to be the norm for other households;
  - 13.8% of the population of Ireland, or 691,587 people, were experiencing deprivation, of which 204,710 were children;
- as of 2020, approximately 31% of Irish Traveller households were deemed to be in acute poverty by the European Union’s Fundamental Rights Agency;

- persons with a disability face a high risk of poverty due to additional costs not met by existing supports, which according to the 2021 Cost of Disability in Ireland Report, can range from €8,700 to €12,300 per annum;

further notes that:

- the State has failed to achieve its target of reducing consistent poverty to 2% or less by 2020, and that previous targets in this regard have not been met on a consistent basis;
- the State's Combat Poverty Agency, which was operational from 1986-2009, played a significant role in raising awareness of and identifying solutions to poverty;
- the shuttering of the Combat Poverty Agency in 2009 as an austerity measure was a profoundly regressive decision, which withdrew resources and focus from anti-poverty strategies and measures at a time when they were most needed;
- due to the subsumption of the work of the Combat Poverty Agency within the Department of Social Protection, the important independent scrutiny of Government policy overseen by the Agency was lost;
- in the absence of the Combat Poverty Agency, or another equivalent independent statutory body, Government policy has often not been adequately poverty proofed;
- the diversion of resources from long-term anti-poverty research and programmes, like the Combat Poverty Agency, was a false economy, with the increased costs incurred by the State due to the impact of poverty far outweighing the savings made in defunding anti-poverty programmes;
- cuts to funding for the public, community and voluntary sectors have not been fully restored in the years since austerity measures were imposed;

recognises that:

- to be in poverty is, in and of itself, very costly;
- poverty imposes significant psychological, emotional and social costs on individuals, families and communities;
- to make ends meet can necessitate significant sacrifice for individuals and families, which limits options in the short term, and opportunity in the medium to long term;
- poverty can give rise to other social problems including, homelessness, addiction, criminality, mental health difficulties and adverse childhood experiences;
- the deep-rooted harm caused by intergenerational poverty, and the manifold difficulties which are faced by those trying to escape intergenerational poverty;
- the eradication of poverty stands to play an important role in the promotion of equality in Irish life, in both opportunity and outcome;
- it is incumbent on the State to alleviate and eradicate poverty;

- intervention by the State to alleviate poverty should allow individuals and families to thrive and to live happy, healthy and fulfilling lives;

further recognises that:

- the austerity measures which exacerbated poverty and inequality should be re-evaluated in the light of the new international economic consensus, and such austerity measures should never again be imposed upon the people of Ireland;
- the causes of poverty in Ireland are rooted in deep inequalities that pre-date the Covid-19 pandemic, the war in Ukraine and the cost-of-living crisis, although they are further exacerbated by these crises;
- proposed increases in social protection payments and the national minimum wage will not be sufficient to address the loss in disposable income caused by the cost-of-living crisis;
- as well as short term actions to meet immediate need, long-term, planned and sustained investment in people and public services will be required to address the deep-rooted structural causes of poverty and deprivation, especially intergenerationally;
- poverty requires a whole-of-Government response and its eradication relies on cross-sectoral and cross-departmental mobilisation and communication;

calls on the Government to:

- re-establish an independent Combat Poverty Agency, or a similar independent statutory body, which is empowered and resourced to develop long-term anti-poverty strategies, carry out important research, and lead the Government's anti-poverty response.
- grant appropriate powers and funding to the new Combat Poverty Agency or equivalent to carry out, inter alia, the following functions:
  - advising on poverty proofing of all future budgets, and producing pre- and post-budget poverty impact assessments;
  - reviewing, on an ongoing basis, public policies in areas such as welfare, and making recommendations to Government on potential areas for policy reform;
  - monitoring and producing annual reports on the Government's progress towards its Roadmap for Social Inclusion 2020-2025 goals;
  - supporting development of the Roadmap for Social Inclusion 2025-2030, with the goal of eradicating consistent poverty in the State by 2030;
  - supporting development of long-term anti-poverty strategies for selected Departments, including the Department of Housing Local Government and Heritage, Department of Social Protection, and the Department of Justice, based on ongoing research on the causes of poverty as they relate to the remit of each Department;

- developing specific and targeted anti-poverty strategies in relation to groups with particularly high levels of consistent poverty or deprivation, including, inter alia, Travellers, migrants, persons with a disability, and one-parent families;

and further calls on the Government to:

- support and resource ongoing independent research based on the Minimum Essential Standards of Living (MESL) and apply the learnings from this research in an ongoing analysis of policies relating to welfare payments and the development of a living wage;
- carry out research on the potential introduction of a Universal Basic Income for certain groups, in particular care leavers;
- re-establish the Education Equality Committee and review the DEIS system to ensure an end to education inequality as a key factor in poverty;
- publish the Second Progress Report on the Roadmap for Social Inclusion 2020-2025 without delay.”
